MISCELLANEOUS HUNGARIAN AND SOVIET MILITARY INSTALLATIONS AND A WORKERS' MILITIA CASERN

Introduction

The report contains limited information on three Hungarian and 50X1-HUM two Soviet military installations and a workers' militia casern in BUDAPEST and a Soviet installation in SZEKESFEHERVAR.

1. Unidentified Hungarian Workers' Militia Casern in BUDAPEST 50X1-HUM the installation on the corner of Ulloi ut and Kun Bela Ter. (See Annex 50X1-HUM A)

in 1958 the installation was taken over by an unidentified Workers' Militia Unit.

In addition to the Workers' Militia, some of the buildings at the installation were used as an unidentified civilian secondary school and a movie theater. The Workers' Militia section was guarded by one unidentified militiaman, dressed in dark grey overalls and armed with a PPSH 1941. Occasionally, militiamen were observed smoking near the windows and watching the street below.

occasionally convoys of about 15 or 20 50X1-HUM unidentified Soviet-made, 2.5 ton trucks, loaded with militia, leave from the front of the installation. The militia, about 90 percent male and 10 percent female, were dressed in dark grey overalls and carried Soviet SMGs PPSH 1941. The majority of male militia were 55 to 60 years old; the females were about 30 to 40 years old. 50X1-HUM militia personnel trained in the outskirts of BUDAPEST. observed militia performing guard duty at factories and regional Communist Party offices. 50X1-HUM militia personnel were usually ardent Communists of long standing who had no skills and were very dependent on their Communist bosses for a livelihood. The militia personnel were considered the staunchest supporters of the Communist Kadar regime.

2. Hungarian Army Officers' Candidate School (Egyesített Tiszti Iskola). BUDAPEST 50X1-HUM

(See Annex B for location and layout) The installation was built in 1953 and until about 1957 it housed the Gabor, Aron Artillery OCS (GABOR, Aron Tuezter Tiszti Iskola). From 1957 to 1964 it served as the unified OCS.

[redacted]
[redacted] The technical OCS trained graduates of secondary schools as officers in the technical branches of the Hungarian Army. The course lasted 3 years. Successful graduates were commissioned as lieutenants in either the engineer, missile or signal branch. The faculty consisted of military and civilian instructors. [redacted]

[redacted] principally technical subjects were taught and the Russian language was also stressed. 50X1-HUM

[redacted] about 4 April 1963 [redacted] observed a group of 150 to 180 candidates practicing parade formations and marching on the installation grounds. 50X1-HUM

3. Unidentified Hungarian Military Installation, BUDAPEST (possibly headquarters) [redacted]

[redacted] the installation at the intersection of Alkotás Ut and Hegyalja Ut [redacted] (See Annex C) [redacted] had a six or seven-story, grey stucco, semi-circular building with a flat roof. The rear section of the building appeared to be built into the side of the hill. On top of the hill, about 300 to 400 m from the streetcar tracks, [redacted] a semicircular dish-type radar antenna. [redacted] as similar to an early warning antenna [redacted] the antenna moved horizontally an unknown number of degrees. 50X1-HUM

[redacted] between 0700 and 0800 hours [redacted] many Hungarian Army officers, some with briefcases, either getting off the streetcar or entering the installation. Many were field grade officers and most wore either signal or engineer insignia. [redacted] very few EM in the area and no guards were at the entrance. 50X1-HUM

4. The 18th and 19th Regional Induction Headquarters (Kiegesztő Parancsnokság), BUDAPEST [redacted]

[redacted] induction headquarters [redacted] address, and that of other induction headquarters, appeared in the Budapest city telephone directory. The installation's one-story building, painted pink, was surrounded by a garden and appeared as a private residence. [redacted] a number of Hungarian Army officers, NCO's and civilian female typists inside the installation. The installation was not guarded. 50X1-HUM

5. Unidentified Soviet Military Installation, BUDAPEST [redacted]

[redacted] this Soviet installation [redacted] (See Annex D) [redacted] was guarded by an unidentified Soviet soldier armed with an unidentified SMG. [redacted] about 2000 Soviet troops were stationed at the installation. 50X1-HUM
